DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 50-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eshel (5,549,559). Eshel discloses a method for treating prostatitis essentially as claimed except for step (e) of heating the target region to a temperature between 40-47 °C for at least 20 minutes or 45 °C for 20-60 minutes, and repeating steps (a-e) in about 18 hours to one month from the first treatment (col. 6, lines 11-51). But, the examiner maintains that it would have been obvious to a skilful artisan to determine the temperatures and times for treating the prostate by simple experimentation.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-49 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Swanson et al. (6,183,468) disclose a computer program for controlling the time and temperature of the heating of tissue, but lack the control of the timing of the massage of the tissue; and Stern et al. (5,755,715) disclose a computer program for controlling the time and temperature of the heating of tissue, but lack the control of the timing of the massage of the tissue.
